Important Changes – Working for Families / Child Support / Student Allowance

Please note the following in relation to the definition of income has changed for Working for Families, Student Allowance entitlements and Child Support Payments. There are now extra income types which need to be included in your 'income figure' before an entitlement amount can be worked out. These are:

- Attributable trustee income – including income of a company controlled by the trust – if you are a settlor of a trust.
- Attributable fringe benefits – when 50% voting is held by shareholder employees or their associates.
- PIE income – excluding superannuation funds or a retirement savings scheme (incl Kiwisaver)
- Passive income of children – includes interest, dividends and rent. Amounts over $500 a year (per child) are included as family income.
- Income of non-resident spouse (worldwide income).
- Tax exempt salary or wages – under specific international agreements in New Zealand (e.g. United Nations).
- Main income equalisation scheme deposits – made by you, your trust or a company controlled by you or your trust.
- Certain pensions and annuities – includes 50% of payments from life insurance policies or a superannuation fund (excluding NZ Super).
- Others payments – received from any person or entity and used for the family's day to day living expenses. This is only included if the total amount exceeds $5,000 per family.

Note:

Other payments over $5,000 includes drawings made from a Company's current account when no shareholder salary has been declared during the year, or the shareholders current account is overdrawn and no interest has been charged (subject to FBT).

Please review the above and if you think any of these income types apply to you, please contact us to discuss.
